first published in 1971 these guides provide invaluable information on thousands of commercial ports and terminals across the globe they are compiled and published annually by Ir oneocean whose years of global maritime experience allows them to provide expert and innovative solutions that enhance efficiency sustainability and overall industry success the guides cover a significant geographical breadth and the most recent volume includes information on over 12 500 ports harbours and terminals worldwide these are fully indexed and contain detailed port plans and mooring diagrams

this volume is dedicated to maritime business history by means of commemorating the career of professor peter neville davies a prominent member of the economic and social history department of the university of liverpool a career spanning the dates 1964 1992 the volume is divided into four sections the first is a tribute and appreciation of professor davies which also acts as an introduction to his work for unfamiliar readers the second section focuses on business aspects of british maritime history with particular attention to the impact of british shipping overseas and the rise and decline of shipbuilding industries the third section is specific to liverpool and merseyside and explores the local maritime history of the area including trade with the mediterranean local shipbuilding the mersey port system and nautical archaeology the final section explores subjects within international maritime history particularly within norway and america all essays and topics covered aim to collectively and significantly develop the field of maritime business history and all are directly related to professor davies academic interests as a means of celebrating professor davies own accomplishments during his career the journal concludes with a comprehensive bibliography of professor davies work analyses conditions in the coal mining sector which precipitated the strike discusses the mobilisation organisation and maintenance of the strike the strike settlement and its aftermath this work brings together two sets of articles under one cover the great grimsby street tramways and the grimsby and immingham electric railway an additional chapter details the latter's tickets and fares enhanced by additional pictures during the 19th century the engineering of ports and harbours became a large and specialised branch of the profession this development began in ports in physically difficult locations and may be particularly identified with the growth of the port of liverpool stimulated by the arrival of ever larger steamships and the heavy investment in port facilities that they demanded it spread around much of the world the opening papers give examples of what could be achieved in antiquity the following ones set out the advances in design and technology from 1700 to the start of this century and note some of the failures and recurrent problems they also illustrate the critical importance of political and economic factors in determining what the engineers achieved
